Hamilton, Montana, July 10, 2007 — No New Fires Reported on the Bitterroot National Forest

No new fires have been reported on the Bitterroot National Forest as of today July 10, 2007. By the end of today, all suppression actions on the fires from last week will be complete. Fire fighters finished their work on the Top of Horse fire near Woods Creek Pass and the Tenmile fire up the Lost Host drainage this afternoon.

There are three wildland fire-use fires being monitored and managed for resource benefits in the Selway Bitterroot and Frank Church River of No Return Wildernesses. They are named Magruder 1, Magruder 2, and Sweet Cabin. The total size of these three fires is approximately ½ acre in size.
